Step-by-step staff/lister guide for lead handling, calling, emails, callbacks and manager handoff.

Quaerens CRM - Lister Training Manual	Lister / Staff	Prepared 02 May 2026

This document explains the Quaerens CRM workflow in practical, step-by-step language. It is designed for training, onboarding, quality control, and management review.

Before You Start

The CRM is role-based. Each person should sign in with their own account so actions, notes, emails, appointments, uploads and status changes are correctly recorded against that user.

- Use the correct login page and never share passwords.
- Check that the correct dashboard opens for your role before working.
- Keep notes factual, short and useful. Avoid opinions that do not help the next department.
- Use the agenda for any future action. If it needs doing later, it should not rely on memory.
- Open the client file whenever you need to understand the wider history of a client.

Golden rule: every important conversation, email, document and next action should leave a clear record in the CRM.

Lister Role Overview

The lister is the first active contact point in the sales workflow. The lister works leads, records call outcomes, sends controlled client-support emails, books call-backs, and sends suitable leads to the manager for review.

Area	What the lister does	CRM location
Lead queue	Reviews new and priority leads, opens the lead record, checks phone/email/campaign details.	Staff dashboard / Lister leads
Calling	Uses the dialer or phone fields to call the client and records the outcome.	Dialer / Lead modal
Email	Sends approved client-support templates only. Staff can edit client name and email address but not rewrite the body.	Client Support Email panel
Progression	Marks interested or qualified leads and sends them to manager review.	Priority Actions
Follow-up	Books callback dates, times and next steps so the client appears in the agenda.	Lead modal / Agenda

Daily Lister Workflow

1. Sign in and check your dashboard

- Open the staff dashboard and confirm your name/account is shown correctly.
- Check daily totals, callbacks, qualified leads and any lead queue figures.
- Open the lister leads area before starting calls.

2. Open a lead

- Click Open on the lead you are working.
- Read the client name, phone, mobile, email, address, postcode, campaign and claim type.
- Check the action history before calling so you do not repeat work already done.

- If deeper context is needed, use Open Client File to view timeline, notes, emails, uploads and follow-ups.

3. Call and record the outcome

- If there is no answer, use No Answer rather than leaving the lead unchanged.
- If you leave a voicemail, select Voicemail.
- If the number is invalid, use Wrong Number so the lead does not stay in the normal queue.
- If the client is not interested, record Not Interested and add a short note.
- If the client wants a callback, enter the callback date and time before saving.

4. Send approved client-support emails

- Use Solar Information Email when the client needs a general explanation of solar issues and eligibility.
- Use Solar Assessment Report Email when the client has asked for or expects their personalised assessment report.
- Use the appointment text generator when a clear appointment message needs to be copied or sent.
- Only correct the client name or email address. The wording is controlled so the message stays compliant and consistent.

Decision Guide

Situation	Correct action	Important note
Client interested but details incomplete	Book callback or send to manager only when enough information exists.	Do not guess missing facts.
Client asks for more information	Send approved information email and record the action.	Use the CRM email button, not a private inbox.
Client may be suitable	Mark Qualified or Send to Manager depending on workflow.	Add short notes explaining why.
Client wants a specific appointment	Use callback/agenda fields and appointment text.	The date/time must be exact.
Client declines	Mark Not Interested and add a factual reason.	Avoid leaving dead leads in the queue.

Quality Checklist

- Every worked lead has a status/outcome.
- Every callback has a date and time.
- Every useful client comment is recorded in notes.
- Emails are sent only through the CRM templates.
- Qualified leads contain enough information for a manager to understand why they were sent forward.
- No client is promised an outcome, refund, compensation or legal result.

Screen-by-Screen Lister Guide

Staff dashboard

- Use this as the starting point for your day. It shows work volume and gives access to the lead tools.
- Check whether callbacks or priority leads need attention before starting new calls.
- If the dashboard does not load, refresh once, then sign out and back in. If it still fails, report the page and error message to management.

Lister leads page

- Use filters to focus on new leads, callbacks, qualified leads or campaign-specific lists.
- Open one lead at a time and finish the action before moving to another lead.
- Use the Open Client File button when you need a wider view of the client history.
- Avoid keeping several lead records open and updating the wrong one.

Dialer page

- Use campaign and queue filters before starting the dialer.
- Check the current lead details before pressing call.
- After each call, choose the correct outcome. This keeps the queue accurate and prevents repeated unnecessary calls.
- Use callback booking if the client asks for a later call. Do not leave callback details only in notes.

Lister Call Handling Standard

Call result	What to do in the CRM	Example note
No answer	Press No Answer and allow attempt count to update.	No answer at 10:15. No voicemail left.
Voicemail	Press Voicemail and note what was left.	Voicemail left asking client to call back.
Interested	Record notes, send suitable template if needed, and book callback or continue intake.	Client interested in solar review. Asked for information email.
Callback	Enter exact date/time and save callback.	Client requested callback Friday at 14:00.
Wrong number	Mark wrong number so it leaves the active calling queue.	Number belongs to different person.
Not interested	Record Not Interested and add a short factual reason.	Client declined support and requested no further contact.

Never leave a worked call without an outcome. The CRM only stays useful if every contact attempt is recorded.

Approved Email Templates for Staff

Staff email wording is intentionally controlled. This keeps messages consistent, professional and safer for compliance.

Template	Use when	Staff can edit
Solar information email	The client wants more information after a call or needs the link to the solar support page.	Client name and recipient email only.
Solar assessment report email	The client has asked for or is expecting their personalised assessment report.	Client name and recipient email only.
General information	The case is not solar but needs a basic controlled follow-up.	Client name and recipient email only.
General assessment	A non-solar client needs an assessment-style follow-up.	Client name and recipient email only.

- Check the email address carefully before sending.
- If the email address looks wrong, correct it in the email panel and save/update the lead where needed.
- Do not paste unapproved sales wording into notes or email fields.
- After sending, check that the lead history shows Client Support Email Sent.

Lister Data Entry Rules

Field	Good entry	Avoid
Client name	Use the client's correct name and spelling.	Nicknames unless the client specifically uses them.
Phone/mobile	Keep numbers clean and complete.	Adding notes inside the phone number field.
Claim type	Select the closest matching claim type.	Leaving it blank if the claim type is known.
Campaign	Keep campaign labels consistent, such as solar, finance, housing.	Inventing new spellings for the same campaign.
Notes	Short factual summary of what happened.	Long opinion-based notes or unsupported promises.

End-of-Day Lister Checklist

- All worked leads have an outcome.
- All callbacks have exact date and time.
- All interested clients have either an intake action, email action, manager handoff or callback.
- No qualified leads are left without notes explaining suitability.
- No private notes or external spreadsheets are being used instead of the CRM.
- You have logged out at the end of your session.
